Introduction

IN this directory we have endeavored to give McHenry and Boone county farmers a complete and reliable directory of the farmers, breeders and merchants of the county, with such other information as will make the directory a valuable reference book.

The task of calling on every farmer in a county and collecting the information for such a directory is a tremendous one. We have received splendid co-operation from the farmers and business men of the county, without which the publication of such a directory would be impossible. In a very few cases we have found farmers unwilling to give the information requested, which accounts for a few names that do not appear.

A few mistakes are bound to occur in a directory that involves so large an amount of work, but we have spared no effort or expense to make the information complete and accurate, and we believe that the mistakes are very few.

We want to speak a word of appreciation for the advertisers whose liberal support has helped materially to bear the heavy expense of publishing this directory, and ask that you favor them with your patronage whenever possible.

We hope and believe that the publication of this directory will be a real service to McHenry and Boone county farmers and in line with PRAIRIE FARMER's policy of service to the farmers of Illinois. We hope that the increased circulation of PRAIRIE FARMER in McHenry and Boone counties which has resulted with help in the movement for better farming, better farm living, and more prosperity for the counties, and that our many new friends will become permanent members of the big PRAIRIE FARMER family.

The Story of the Great Milk Strike.

(From Prairie Farmer, April 22, 1916)

Farmers over the Chicago dairy district are enjoying the happiest Easter season they have ever known. They will take up spring work with renewed hopes and with real joy in their hearts, for they have won the milk price fight. Applied to Chicago's daily milk supply the 22 cents a hundred increase means that the 12,000 dairymen in the district will each day get over $8,000 more for their milk than at the price offered by the distributors—an average of 66 cents more per day for each farmer.

When it became clear on the first of April that the farmers meant business, the small companies began to fall into line one by one. They realized that there was little else to do, for with their supply cut off their trade would soon go to the large companies, who could hold out a few days longer. McBride Brothers & Knobbe, ice cream manufacturers, operating a plant at Walworth, Wis., was one of the first concerns to pay the association price. The Congress plant at Woodstock, owned by Senator Olson, stood out until April 3, when, after several unsuccessful attempts to get milk delivered with the aid of the sheriff, it came over to the farmers' side. Following this action, Mr. Olson is reported to have said that his sole reason for hesitating as long as he did was to see whether or not any of the large companies were going to pay the $1.55 also. There were many other companies in the same boat, but once they got started most of them were quick to climb into the farmers' bandwagon.

Signs of an early settlement of the strike appeared Thursday, April 6, when the Ira J. Mix and Kee & Chapell companies, next largest dealers to the Borden and Bowman concerns, announced that they would pay the farmers' price. On the same day Health Commissioner John Dill Robertson invited the officials of the Milk Producers' Association to meet representatives of the milk companies in an arbitration meeting at his office. The secretary's office was busy arranging contracts between association members and buyers who had met the farmers' price, so word was sent that the association would not arbitrate in any way, but that it would gladly send representatives for a conference, provided it could be held the day following.

Commissioner Robertson agreed to this plan and on Friday a conference took place between the Milk Producers' Association, represented by President R. B. Swift and George Brown, and representatives of the Borden, Bowman, Kee & Chapell, Wanzer and Ira J. Mix companies.

At the close of the conference, which lasted seven hours, it was announced that the Bowman company had agreed to pay the association price. The Bowman decision left only the Borden company standing out, and its representatives tentatively agreed to accept the farmers' price, announcing that their action would have to be ratified by the directors of the company in New York before the contracts could be signed. During the conference an attempt was made to settle the price by long distance telephone communication with the New York office, but as this was unsuccessful the Borden representatives in conference asked the association for a day or so of time to obtain the necessary instructions from New York. Saturday was a quiet one at the Borden plants, as the farmers had dealt with them so effectively that many of them were closed, while would-be patrons had given up trying to deliver milk to others. The Bowman and other plants operated on Saturday as if nothing had happened, and by Tuesday morning the Borden plants had resumed normal operation.

A very helpful ruling was that of the milk board, which permitted the sale of milk to companies meeting the association price irrespective of whether their competitors did so or not. In the milk producers' meeting at Chicago, March 27, there was considerable sentiment in favor of not signing up milk with one company until all had agreed to the association demands, but fortunately this plan was not adopted. Lack of sufficient competition for milk had been one of the chief faults of the Chicago milk market, and the effect of patronizing the buyers who were early willing to pay $1.55 a hundred was to re-establish the much needed competition. The plan used served to line up the small buyers early through fear of losing trade to the larger companies, while toward the end of the fight the large dealers became conscious of a feeling that the little fellows might run away with their customers while they stubbornly held out.

In order to decide promptly on the many questions arising each hour and to otherwise assist the members, the milk board was in daily session throughout the price fight. The members of this board are President R. B. Swift, Secretary W. J. Kittle, C. H. Potter, J. J. Murphy and R. W. Sherburne. Each day a bulletin, giving the gist of the situation and the most important news of the fight, was printed, and a copy of it sent at night to the chairman of each local, who had it posted where all the producers at his point might read it.

"We'll confer but not arbitrate," was the platform on which the milk board worked. On the first of April, John W. Knobbe of McBride Brothers & Knobbe spent several hours at the association headquarters in an attempt to get the association to sanction his purchase of milk from its members at $1.55 with a provision; that provision being that the other companies also pay the price. The association would not agree, and that evening Knobbe informed Secretary Kittle that he would pay the $1.55 with no "ifs" or "ands" about the matter. The western manager of the Borden company also tried to get special privileges by offering to meet the April price demanded by the association and leave the price for the other five months to arbitration. This, too, met with a flat refusal, after which the Borden company met the farmers demands in full. That the dealer gets the milk is the only provision that the association allowed.

"If the milk board of which I am a member had sanctioned any price one iota less than that set by the association," says Mr. Potter, "I would never go back to Elgin. I would feel a great deal safer in the trenches of Europe than in the Fox River Valley."

Though very effective measures had been used to persuade the producers not to sign up before the first of April, the farmers were even more successful in keeping away from the plants milk signed at less than the association price. Perhaps a third of Chicago's normal supply had been contracted before the strike actually began, yet practically the entire supply was tied up within a few days. Only a comparatively small amount of milk found its way into Chicago during the first week of April, most of this being milk that had been held by the dealers in anticipation of the strike, or milk that was shipped in from outlying points. Some of this milk came from Iowa, New York, and from points in Wisconsin outside of the Chicago dairy district.

In addition to shutting off the home supply, the farmers were successful also in stopping much of the milk shipped in from outside the district, and in preventing the transfer of whole milk from condensing bottling plants. An example of this occurred at Belvidere, where the Borden company operates a condensery. Several attempts were made to ship whole milk from this plant to the bottling plant at Marengo, with the result that three carloads of this milk was seized by the farmers. A few days later, on April 6, about 300 McHenry and Boone county farmers gathered at the Belvidere plant and prevented the delivery of a single pound of milk. After this experience the Belvidere plant closed until the strike ended.

Every milk shipping or buying point in the district had its share of excitement during the strike, although cases of actual violence were very few. Picketers were out at nearly every plant some time during the strike. Sometimes they were obliged to use force in order to keep obdurate farmers from delivering milk, though moral persuasion was generally sufficient. The earnestness of the striking farmers had really to be seen to be appreciated, but a few instances of what took place at a few points will perhaps serve to impress those outside of the district with the tenseness of the situation. At Dundee about 20 loads of milk were dumped one morning and a general scrap between farmers and deputies took place. Some of the deputies were reported to have drawn revolvers but were forced into automobiles and driven away by the farmers. At Palatine another deputy had his revolver taken away by a picket.

Fifty auto loads of pickets guarded the Borden plant at West Chicago April 7, keeping all milk away from it except three cans, which were delivered before the farmers began their day's picketing. Usually one day's picketing was enough to convince the managers of a plant that they had better cease operations until after the strike, but if milk was afterwards reported to be coming in, the farmers were out in force again. On the fifth of April several hundred farmers were on hand at the Elgin plants of the Borden company and put a stop to the delivery of milk at that place.

In McHenry county, Ill., Myron J. Wright, who is keeping open the office of the county soil and crop improvement association during the absence of a regular advisor, took much the same part in the price war as did Mr. Craig. No county had more milk to hold back or held it back more effectively than McHenry, and a good part of this was due to Mr. Wright's generalship in keeping the plants well supplied with pickets. Tuesday morning picketing began at the Borden plant in Woodstock and prevented the delivery of milk throughout the day. At night, however, a small amount of milk was received there; the plant being so anxious for it that the superintendent had several producers' milk collected at a farmhouse near town and delivered to the plant by a drayman, who was protected by three deputy sheriffs. Picketing continued the next day, when not a pound was allowed to get to the plant. On this day, April 5, the Borden plant at Ringwood was also closed. At Chemung a minor fight occurred between picketers and deputies.

The nearest approach to violence in McHenry county was at Hartland, where a Bowman plant operates. At this point the farmers began to picket on the first of April and kept most of the milk away until the plant was closed on the fourth. This plant was literally closed by the farmers, for about noon Tuesday they took possession of the plant, turning the workmen out, and forced the superintendent to give up the key. Sheriff Wandrack of Woodstock and several deputies were rushed to the factory and order was restored late in the afternoon. Following this disturbance Bowman officials appeared before Judge Donnelly at Woodstock asking for an injunction against the farmers. Judge Donnelly granted a writ forbidding violence and interfering with Bowman property, but informed the company that he could not stop peaceful picketing by the farmers.

Many producers over the district adopted various means of disposing of their supply before the milk trade was restored to normal. Shipping cream was one of the most popular alternatives, and the railroad station platforms were piled with cream cans throughout the fight. At Harvard several separators were installed in a barn and used to separate milk that could not be handled at home. Subscriptions were also started for a farmers' co-operative creamery there. On the evening before the milk strike began a representative of the Chicago Milk Drivers' Union addressed an enthusiastic meeting of farmers and townspeople in a Harvard church, urging the farmers to stand out for a fair price for their milk. The farmers about Hebron were also loyal through the thick and thin of the fight and little milk was delivered at that point. The Borden company at Hebron returned contracts to a few farmers who had signed for less than the association price, after which the farmers stopped picketing and no milk was delivered. Separators for handling the farmers' milk were installed in a mill near Hebron and action was also taken toward building a new creamery.

After the companies began to sign up at the association price the members then began to insist on all who signed becoming also members of the association. At several places threats to dump the milk were made unless the membership was forthcoming. As a result a number of the companies required their patrons to become members of the Milk Producers' Association before signing the contract. It is probable that nearly every producer in the Chicago district will become a member of the association before the last echoes of the price fight have passed.

Before the recent price campaign started some of the representatives of the large milk buying companies were reported as saying that the milk producers were as wandering Jews—that they were not even agreed between themselves and that they could not stick together. Perhaps, after the unprecedented example of sticking together that these producers have just shown, the milk buyers will be glad to accord them as much consideration as they do a hundred milk wagon drivers when they ask for an advance in wages.

The victory of the milk producers is without a parallel in agricultural history. Tangible results have already come in the form of an increased price for milk. But what of the future? It is fair to expect that the milk companies will at least give the producers more consideration in their dealings together than they have heretofore. The milk producers will have more courage to stand together. Probably the heroic methods used in the recent fight will be unnecessary in the future. We hope so. But if the farmers are again called to action for same cause they will rise as a victorious army only recently disbanded. A nation's army is never stronger than just following a victorious war. The milk producers are now ready for a greater fight. It would be a wise policy for the large milk companies not to tempt them too far. In their association the farmers' ammunition is safe and the men know how to use it. They have found their leaders, too, men like Swift and Kittle and the others who helped to bear the brunt of the fight.

Outside of the milk producing district the victory will also have a very encouraging effect. Agriculture has never had such an example of farmers sticking together for a cause, or winning so great a victory so quickly. Its lesson will not be lost. In many places farmers lack sufficient confidence in co-operation and organization. The success of the milk producers will give farmers everywhere more confidence in organized effort. This one victory is worth more than all the barrels of ink and hours of talk used to advance organization that were ever aimed at farmers' heads.—F. M. C.

WHEN THE BELT SLIPS

From Prairie Farmer.

The slipping of belts is a great annoyance, but it is not always remedied by tightening the belt. Ordinarily, if the proper-sized belts and pulleys are used and properly put in, there should be little or no slipping at all. Often the slipping of a belt is due to the overload carried by it. There is economy in using wider belts than is the usual practice. Many a three-inch belt is made to do the work of a four-inch belt, much to the annoyance of the operator and the ruin of the belt.

However, when an immediate remedy is needed, a small quantity of powdered whiting, sprinkled on the inside of the belt, is very good and is the least harmful of any similar application.

The use of beeswax, rubbed on the inside of the belt or on the pulley is a very good remedy in cases of emergency.

Many people use powdered rosin on a slipping belt but this is bad practice because it soon dries the leather and causes it to crack.

LIGHTNING RODS PROTECT BUILDINGS

From Prairie Farmer.

"It is generally agreed now that lightning rods, properly installed, do afford a considerable measure of protection to farm buildings, a fact which is indicated by the more favorable insurance rates which many insurance companies offer in insuring farm buildings that are properly rodged," says K. J. T. Ekblaw of the department of farm mechanics, University of Illinois.

"One insurance company of Michigan states that the small sum of $32 has been paid in four years for damage done to rodged buildings by lightning, although a total risk of fifty-five million dollars was taken. Another company taking risks amounting to fifty-nine million dollars, in the same period of time on both rodged and unrodged buildings, paid for damage done by lightning more than a thousand times as much as the other company paid on wired buildings. A prominent fire insurance adjuster states that in his experience, for every dollar's worth of damage done to properly rodged buildings, there was $1,168 damage done to unrodged ones. In other words, there was indicated an efficiency of 99.9 per cent in favor of wired ones.

"Some of the points to be kept in mind in installing a system of lightning rod protection are as follows:

"(1) Either copper or galvanized iron may be used for lightning conductors. The cable form is satisfactory and the weight of the copper should be at least three ounces per foot, while that of the galvanized iron should be twice as much.

"(2) All parts of the wiring should be connected up into one system. No blind ends or stubs should be left ungrounded. Joints should be made very securely and the contact made as perfect as possible by soldering and brazing.

"(3) The conductor should be firmly fastened to the building instead of being insulated from it, as is sometimes done. The purpose of the conductor is to take the lightning charge away from the building; insulation prevents this.

THE PRAIRIE FARMER'S CREED

I believe in red clover, I believe in cow peas, I believe in soy beans, and above all, I believe in alfalfa, the queen of forage plants.

I believe in a permanent agriculture, a soil that shall grow richer rather than poorer from year to year.

I believe in hundred bushel corn and in fifty bushel wheat, and I shall not be satisfied with anything less.

I believe that the only good weed is a dead weed, and that a clean farm is as important as a clean conscience.

I believe in the farm boy and in the farm girl, the farmer's best crops and the future's best hope.

I believe in the farm woman, and will do all in my power to make her life easier and happier.

I believe in a country school that prepares for country life, and a country church that teaches its people to love deeply and live honorably.

I believe in community spirit, a pride in home and neighbors, and I will do my part to make my own community the best in the state.

I believe in better roads. I will use the road drag conscientiously whenever opportunity offers, and I will not "soldier" when working out my road tax.

I believe in happiness, I believe in the power of a smile, and I will use mine on every possible occasion.

I believe in the farmer, I believe in farm life, I believe in the inspiration of the open country.

I am proud to be a farmer, and I will try earnestly to be worthy of the name.

When you go into a store to buy shoes, say to the clerk, "I want a pair of _____ shoes". Don't say, "I want a pair of shoes". If you name a brand of shoes you know will give you satisfaction, you not only say you want shoes, but you know about what you want. A clerk will always give closer attention to a customer who knows what he wants. It is human nature. The clerk will be more likely to give you satisfaction, even if he does not have the make of shoes you ask for, because he will know better what to show you, if you are willing to consider another make.

Almost everyone in Illinois knows the Lazy Farmer. Thousands of Illinois farmers laugh over his songs in Prairie Farmer every two weeks. You are missing a treat if you are not a reader of the Lazy Farmer's sayings.

Interurban Bridge, Belvidere, Ill.

PROTECT YOUR HONEST DOLLAR

To Prairie Farmer Readers—

Don't buy cheap, unadvertised goods, but protect yourself when buying by insisting on getting from your dealer only—

All Goods Advertised in Prairie Farmer are TRIPLE-G Goods.
All Goods Advertised in This Directory are TRIPLE-G Goods.

When the local dealer says in his advertisement:

“We Sell and Recommend the Following
TRIPLE-Guarantee Goods”

as in any advertisement in Prairie Farmer or in this Directory, it gives you this TRIPLE-Guarantee

- 1st That the manufacturer of the goods stands back of them.
- 2nd That the Prairie Farmer stands back of them.
- 3rd That the merchant handling the goods stands back of them.

“TRIPLE-Guarantee Goods”

Are the best value for the money.

What Are "TRIPLE-G" Goods?

WHY should you ask for them and refuse any other kind?

WHEN a reader of Prairie Farmer goes into a store to buy, he is assured of getting full value for his money if he insists on buying only well known advertised goods and refusing to buy any unknown brand substitute.

WHY? Because advertised goods are well known goods that are backed up with the guarantee of PRAIRIE FARMER and the manufacturer. If the goods are not as represented in the advertising, or do not give full satisfaction, this TRIPLE GUARANTEE means that you have only to make your complaint and that any just claim will be fairly considered and your money paid back in case the goods are not as represented. This is PRAIRIE FARMER'S FAIR PLAY POLICY with its readers. We back up every advertisement in PRAIRIE FARMER and guarantee honest treatment. No humbugs, swindles or cheap substitute goods (that are made to sell and get the customer's money on false pretenses) are advertised in PRAIRIE FARMER. Buy the goods advertised in PRAIRIE FARMER and in this Directory and you are taking no chances. You are guaranteed satisfaction because all goods we advertise are

GLUE METHOD OF INOCULATION

By Frank I. Mann in Prairie Farmer.

The glue method of inoculating clover and alfalfa seed is not only cheap and easy, but it is nearly "fool proof;" that is, it is not necessary to be very particular about all the details to have it successful in its results. A pound of glue may be dissolved in a gallon of water or in two or three gallons of water, without any appreciable difference in the results; and a quart of dry dirt, or a gallon of dry dirt, may be sprinkled on the seed after it has been moistened with the glue water. As a rule, about a quart of dirt may stick to the seed, and the rest of the dirt may be screened out or not, just as you prefer, as the amount of dirt is not material, if there is enough. In preparing the dirt, however, a little care should be used to secure it from a place where the bacteria are active, as shown by the nodules formed, and if the host plant, in this case sweet clover, has grown in the same place for several years the inoculation will be better. This dirt should not be dried in the sun, as direct sunlight is fatal to bacteria of nearly every kind. The dirt should be finely pulverized and sifted through a fine sieve, but this is not much trouble, as so small an amount is used.

When you go into a store to buy shoes, say to the clerk, "I want a pair of _____ shoes". Don't say, "I want a pair of shoes". If you name a brand of shoes you know will give you satisfaction, you not only say you want shoes, but you know about what you want. A clerk will always give closer attention to a customer who knows what he wants. It is human nature. The clerk will be more likely to give you satisfaction, even if he does not have the make of shoes you ask for, because he will know better what to show you, if you are willing to consider another make.
